HIGH OFFICIALS OF COMPANY COMING

Inspection Of Shops And Terminal During Day—Dinner Program In Evening

New Castle pays tribute to a great railway system tomorrow, Tuesday, May 23. The day has been set apart as "Baltimore and Ohio Day" and the entire city will be made conscious of the fact that one of the important units of the B. & O. is here.

For weeks the employees of the railway have been busy arranging a program fitted to the idea. Mayor Charles E. McGrath has given the day the official sanction of the city by proclamation and all day tomorrow the citizens will be given the opportunity of seeing for themselves just what an important unit the B. & O. has here, what it means to the city industrially, and in turn the B. & O. men and women will have an opportunity to demonstrate a justifiable pride in their "family."

Starts In Morning

Beginning at ten o'clock and continuing until two, a shuttle service will be operated from the freight house on South Mill street to the junction. Citizens are invited to avail themselves of this shuttle service, go down to the shops and see for themselves how the huge engines of the road are repaired, the wealth of equipment needed for the repairs and the men who are behind the equipment. The trip will be a revelation to those who have no personal knowledge of what is down there.

At noon a luncheon will be held (Continued On Page Two)

PA NEW OBSERVES

A campaign is on among manufacturers of blasting caps to lessen the number of accidents occasioned by children finding and playing with these caps, which when they explode, cause small particles of copper to fly in all directions. It is urged upon children when they find one of these caps, to notify an officer of the law or other responsible adult. The campaign is being directed principally in the schools.

New Castle's spirea display is now on in full force. Hundreds of homes about the city are resplendent with the display of the little white flowers.

Painting of traffic lane lines on the three-lane highway between New Castle and Parktown corners might be a safety measure, Pa. News believes.

Autoists using Hazelcroft avenue between Mercer street and Wilmington avenue are anxiously awaiting the time when oil is applied to the surface. The loose limestone top at present causes a cloud of dust every time an auto travels the thoroughfare, unless the roadway is wet after a rain.

New Castle proper seems to have been missed almost entirely by the heavy rain storms which have swept over the district in the last few days. Sunday afternoon, a half-dozen storms passed around the city, and only brief showers were noted here. According to one local resident who was motoring north of the city Sunday, it rained so hard in several localities on his trip, that he had to stop and park his car until the worst of the storm had passed over.

State Regent

MISS FRANCES MAHER

Miss Frances M. Maher of Kane has served the Pennsylvania Catholic Daughters for 22 consecutive years as state regent. When elected to the post in 1917 she had no idea she would still be serving nearly a quarter of a century later. She has a pleasing, friendly personality, and is probably the most popular member of the C. D. of A. in Pennsylvania. In addition to her activities in the state organization, she serves the national in the capacity of vice supreme regent. She is presiding at the state biennial convention now in progress in New Castle.

the rearing of their families and less time to participating in the world of industry. There is one place where a woman is seen to the best advantage and that is the home—for there she is queen, the C. D. of A. delegates were told by their eloquent and respected state regent.

Rev. F. F. O'Shea Celebrant

The solemn high mass in stately St. Mary's, celebrated by the Rev. F. F. O'Shea, of St. Peter's church, Pittsburgh, former pastor of St. Mary's, was an impressive beginning for today's convention sessions. The bishop, numerous priests, altar boys and delegates were in the procession, led by Madge Shriver of New Castle and a delegation of juniors with an American flag. The delegates occupied the center section of the auditorium during the service.

Rev. Leo Watterson, of St. Mary's, was deacon of the mass. Rev. Joseph J. Nallin of Scranton was the sub-deacon and Rev. William F. Galvin, of St. Mary's, was the master of ceremonies. Priests in the procession included Rev. Vincent O'Donnell, chaplain of the New Castle hospital, Rev. Joseph A. Doerr and Rev. Peter Schirra of St. Joseph's. Rev. W. J. Conway of Erie, Rev. R. D. A. Wilkey of Ellwood City and others.

Protests Follow Over Shooting Of Danzig German

Reports Conflict As To Cause Of Shooting Of German Butcher

EUROPE WORRIED OVER INCIDENT

Fear That Case May Have Repercussions In Tense Polish-German Situation

(International News Service)

DANZIG, May 22.—Whether the fatal shooting of an obscure German butcher might cause the long-dreaded European explosion was the question which worried European statesmen, anxiously rushing their program of alliances, today.

Under circumstances which resulted in conflicting German and Polish versions, a German butcher was killed at Kallhof, a village in Danzig adjoining East Prussia, by the driver of a Polish official automobile.

Exchange Protests

As tension increased and German Danzigers, staged demonstrations against Poland, Danzig and Warsaw exchanged sharp protests. Danzig demanded surrender of the chauffeur who, it was agreed on both sides, fired the shot. The free city also called for an expression of regret by Poland and compensation for the family of the victim.

Arthur Greiser, Nazi president of the Danzig senate, said in the protest forwarded to the Polish commissioner, that the German butcher was shot without provocation. The butcher, Gustav Gruebner, was returning from East Prussia in a taxi-cab, said this version, when his driver was blinded by the searchlight of a parked car in a deserted street. They stopped and got out to investigate when Gruebner was shot. Not even a word was exchanged before the Polish driver opened fire, it was asserted. The Poles then fled into Poland, according to the Danzig protest.

Polish Charges

Poland promptly charged that the Polish chauffeur fired in self defense when his car was attacked by a Nazi mob. When the customs station at Kallhof was attacked and demolished by a German crowd, Tadeus Perkowsky, under-commissioner in Danzig, was sent to investigate. A crowd attacked the car while Perkowsky was making his inquiries. (Continued On Page Two)

President To Make Address

Tonight At Retailers Forum—To Be Broadcast

By GEORGE DURNO

International News Service Staff

WASHINGTON, May 22.—President Roosevelt worked up to the last minute tonight on the speech he will deliver tonight at the National Retailers Forum, expected to be one of his most momentous since the 1936 campaign.

Sources close to the White House hinted that the President would review the tax situation as it stands today. The chief executive insisted that, if any of the higher bracket taxes on big business are eliminated, compensating revenue for the government must be found. In order that he might put his finishing touches on his address—which will be nationally broadcast at 9:30 p. m., EST, and run about 25 minutes—Mr. Roosevelt kept all of his engagements today in the oval room study of the white house. He was free from interruption there than in the executive offices.

District Judge Merrill E. Otis on Pendergast's plea of guilty to evasion of income taxes.

Washington Agog As Royal Garden Party Nears

The exclusiveness of New York's erstwhile "400" pales to insignificance in comparison with Washington's newly nominated 1,300—the number of those receiving the coveted invitations to the large garden party Sir Ronald Lindsay, British ambassador, and his staff will give in honor of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth on June 8 in the spacious grounds of the British embassy in Washington. A favored few of the 1,300 will also be invited for tea with their majesties on the pillared portico of the embassy. The names of thesefortunates have not been revealed. Like all American garden parties the menu will include strawberries and cream.

Yankee Clipper Lands In France

Trans-Atlantic Airmail Hop From New York Is Successfully Ended

FAST TIME IS MADE ON TRIP

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service) MARSEILLES, France, May 22.—The Pan American Airways flying boat Yankee Clipper, arrived in Marseilles Harbor at 2:40 p. m. today (10:40 a. m. E. D. T.) from Lisbon, Portugal. Headwinds necessitated a detour over Spain.

Across Portugal Lisbon, Portugal, May 22.—Speeding forward with time-table precision, the giant Yankee Clipper, pioneer of the Transatlantic air mail service, headed across Portugal and Spain for Marseilles, France, at 8:30 a. m. local time (3:30 a. m. E. D. T.) today.

From Marseilles the clipper will continue to Southampton, England, whence the homeward journey via Ireland and Newfoundland will begin.

At the end of the first regular transatlantic mail flight, which Capt. Arthur E. Laporte described as "routine and unromantic," the great flying boat landed on the Tagus river at Lisbon yesterday at 8:42 p. m. (3:42 p. m. E. D. T.).

Much Under Lindbergh's Time With a stop at Horta, Azores Islands, the Yankee Clipper made the voyage from Port Washington, L. I., 2,447 miles, in 26 hours, 24 minutes. In spite of the stop at Horta, and the fact that the clipper carried 17 men and 1603 pounds of mail, the trip was made in nearly six hours less time than Charles A. Lindbergh's solo flight to Paris just 12 years ago.

Weather conditions were favorable throughout, said Capt. Laporte, save for head-winds in the latter part of the flight, which delayed the arrival in Lisbon more than two hours. Included in the flying boat's cargo are four dozen California marigolds, which Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy will present to Queen Mary in England.

The Shenango volunteers were not notified of the blaze when it was at its height, but went to the scene later to play water on burning debris to that Reno could start salvage work. The loss, partly covered by insurance, was estimated at $1,000.

Seven Briggs Plants At Detroit Are Affected By C. I. O. Order

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service) DETROIT, May 22.—The C. I. O. called a strike of 18,000 Briggs Manufacturing company workers today, forcing seven Briggs plants in Detroit to shut down.

The strike, if continued, will affect production at many Chrysler Corporation plants and will hamper Ford Motor company production.

C. I. O. shop stewards and members put the strike into effect as soon as the deadline passed. They were authorized to strike by a vote of the local and were prepared for direct, fast action to stop production.

The strike is the first major labor difficulty since the United Automobile Workers Union was split into two unions, C. I. O. and Anti-C. I. O., last January.

Turkey Seeks To Force Britain To Conclude Alliance With Soviet

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER

International News Service Special Correspondent

GENEVA, May 22.—While Germany and Italy signed a formal military alliance in Berlin, while murder took place in Danzig and Poland trembled before Germany's unrelenting threats, two meetings took place in Geneva today.

One was the International Red Cross under chairmanship of Norman Davis to discuss how many bandages, stretchers, and ambulances would be needed for the coming conflict.

The other was the League of Nations, which stirred its dead bones for a ghostly gathering called the 105th session of the league council, at which alleged statesmen solemnly debated whether it is worth while to bring Soviet Russia into their grand alliance.

Turkey Forces Move

International News Service learned from most authoritative sources that rumors placing Turkey in the background of these negotiations are thoroughly substantiated.

According to these reports, Turkey has given Britain a virtual ultimatum either to conclude an alliance with Russia this week or Turkey will refuse to ratify her pact of mutual assistance with Britain, which she has thus far only initiated.

It is believed in Geneva that this pressure may bring Prime Minister (Continued On Page Two)

Two Plane Crashes In Pittsburgh Area Are Being Probed

Two Persons Killed And Third Has Broken Back Result Of Accidents

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 22.—State aeronautic authorities today were investigating two airplane crashes in this area yesterday which cost the lives of two men and critically injured a third.

Cecil E. Davis, New Stanton flying instructor, and Andrew Sivak, prospective pupil of Westmoreland Homesteads, were instantly killed when their plane suddenly nosedived just a few seconds after taking off from the Latrobe flying field.

L. Kimble Garis Jr., of Pittsburgh, broke his back when his plane crashed as he attempted to land at Bettis field, where his parents stood watching.

Witnesses said the plane carrying the flying instructor and prospective pupil spiraled down into a field and turned over near the St. Xavier Academy, Catholic school for girls. The bodies of the two men were taken to an undertaking parlor at Latrobe.

Other fliers expressed the opinion the plane took off too sharply and the motor failed. Wind conditions, they said, were "tricky."

Davis, 27, is survived by two sisters. He had a limited commercial license. Sivak, 27, was a Homestead baseball player.

Young Garis, but 17, attempted to spiral into the airport, saw he couldn't make it and opened the throttle in an attempt to get up again, the ship went into a power dive and crashed. Both his father and mother witnessed the accident.

Their Majesties And The Quints Meet Privately

Historic Greetings Take Place In Chamber Of Parliament Hall

TUMULTUOUS GREETING GIVEN BRITISH RULERS

Toronto Ceremonies For King And Queen Bring Record Throng To City

By WALTER KIERNAN

International News Service Staff Correspondent

TORONTO, Ont., May 22.—The king and queen of Canada today met six of the dominion's chief exhibits—the five Dionne quintuplets and Thomas W. Holmes, youngest wearer of the Victoria cross in all Canada.

Presentation of Holmes and seven other V. C. men was in connection with presentation of legislative officials and their wives in the provincial parliament.

But the quints met their majesties privately in a chamber of the building, coming later to the senate hall where some 1,500 persons crowded on the floor and in the galleries waited to see them.

Huge Reception

The reception for provincial officials was one of the largest which has been held by the king and queen and before they had passed the half-way mark in shaking hands, the queen had tossed her fur neckpiece on the throne.

During the entire hour and a quarter the royal couple stood and so did the loyal 1,500, but there was some uneasy shifting from foot to foot in the crowded warm hall.

From the throngs crowded outside the parliament building came an incessant chant which pierced the stout walls:

"We want the king! We want the queen!"

"We want the king! We want the queen!"

Tumultuous Welcome

Toronto, Ont., May 22.—King George and Queen Elizabeth received another tumultuous welcome today when they reached this capital city of the Province of Ontario where Premier Mitchell Hepburn reaffirmed confidence in "your majesties' wise and gracious leadership."

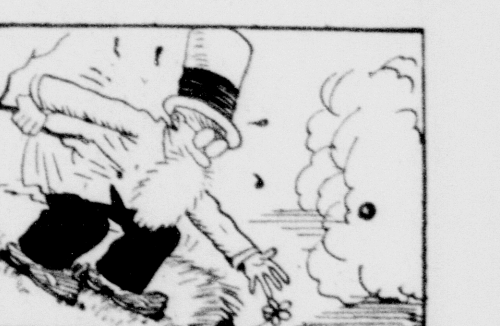

Greeting their majesties who were cheered by throngs following the mid-morning arrival from Ottawa, Premier Hepburn said:

"It is gratifying to all British subjects to realize that our empire is still regarded as the bulwark of freedom and the hope of civilization and we are confident that under your majesties' wise and gracious leadership our statesmen will so continue to conduct the affairs of government that the empire's proud possession in world affairs will be maintained and strengthened and the nations of the world directed along the paths of peace."

Ride Through Crowds

From their palatial private train the royal couple rode in a jammed, through crowds that jammed the streets of Ontario's queen city to get a glimpse at the first sovereigns to visit a British dominion. Cheers and shouts of greeting came from the enthusiastic throng along the route to the provincial parliament (Continued On Page Eleven)

The pasture is always much greener they say, on the other side of the fence, a queer sort of logic it rather appears, and one that seems not to make sense, but horses and cows seem to feel that its so, and they reach for the grass out beyond, its the same way with humans and flowers it seems, the one that is right on the pond and is hard to get hold of is the one that you want, but I don't know why it is that way, just perversity showing will answer I guess, its warmer, past eighty today.

Legislature May Conclude This Week

Plan Day And Night Sessions

Seven Important Measures Are Still Before Legislature For Action

BUSY WEEK SEEN AT STATE CAPITOL

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, May 22.—

Striving to adjourn the legislature by the end of the week, administration leaders today ordered day and night sessions.

The senate, where most of the important bills repose following house enactment, will meet at 2 p. m. in its first Monday afternoon session. The house, with the general appropriation bills, the teachers' tenure measures and the Philadelphia charter bill, the only legislation before it, will meet tonight at 9.

It was expected that the legislature would remain in session until late Saturday night or early Sunday, with the clock turned back to permit an official Friday ending. The week-end was expected to be given over largely to the meetings of joint conference committees which will attempt to iron out differences so as to obtain concurrence by the two houses.

Seven important measures are still to be enacted by the senate. They include legislation on liquor, relief, workmen's and unemployment compensation, anthracite, labor and general appropriations. All have been approved by the house with the exception of the $372,000,000 budget measure which is scheduled for house approval tonight.

Both the teachers' tenure bills and the Philadelphia charter measure, now in the house, hold senate approval.

TURKEY SEEKS TO FORCE BRITAIN INTO SOVIET AGREEMENT

Neville Chamberlain and French foreign minister Georges Bonnet to overcome their reluctance to accept Russia's terms.

These men, in effect, a triple military and mutually defensive alliance of Britain, France and Russia with an unqualified commitment to protect each other from any conceivable attack in Europe.

Behind the no-longer imposing facade of the League of Nations, Great Britain worked feverishly to day to bring Russia, by either of two formulas, into an iron-clad alliance with France as the third member.

In outright triple alliance, duplicating the powerful union which confronted Germany in 1914, or a bi-lateral Anglo-Soviet alliance complementing the Franco-Russian alliance already in existence is expected to materialize before the week end.

and the driver fired two shots into the air then two into the mob, killing Gruebner, said the Poles.

"In Warsaw it was stated that a very serious view was taken of the incident, since the attack on the Kalthof customs house was the fourth in two weeks.

(Germany, in the meantime, continued its press attacks on Poland. Approximately 10,000 Germans have fled into the Reich from the Lodz district alone since the beginning of the crisis, DNB, official German news agency, reported from Warsaw.)

In one of several demonstrations protesting against the shooting, a mob surrounded the building in Piekel occupied by Polish customs inspectors. The inspectors telephoned to Danzig for protection, reporting that the crowd was shouting threats, but in a couple of hours the mob broke up.

Sunday's killing actually was the second of the current crisis, according to a recent DNB story, which said a German refugee trying to leave Poland was shot by Polish guards.

and the driver fired two shots into the air then two into the mob, killing Gruebner, said the Poles.

"In Warsaw it was stated that a very serious view was taken of the incident, since the attack on the Kalthof customs house was the fourth in two weeks.

(Germany, in the meantime, continued its press attacks on Poland. Approximately 10,000 Germans have fled into the Reich from the Lodz district alone since the beginning of the crisis, DNB, official German news agency, reported from Warsaw.)

In one of several demonstrations protesting against the shooting, a mob surrounded the building in Piekel occupied by Polish customs inspectors. The inspectors telephoned to Danzig for protection, reporting that the crowd was shouting threats, but in a couple of hours the mob broke up.

Sunday's killing actually was the second of the current crisis, according to a recent DNB story, which said a German refugee trying to leave Poland was shot by Polish guards.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

HEALTH COMES FIRST

MOST parents who read this column are very conscientious. Some of you are too conscientious. You willingly would lay down your life for your children. Some of you, indeed, are dying slowly out of love for them, while their greatest need is that you may live long and richly with them.

Some of you, because of over-zealousness, are exacting of your children far too much. I know how you feel. I am a parent, too. I realize how very eager you are that they shall make the most of themselves. You have vast dreams for them.

Your child may not, however, be disposed by native aptitude or interest to aspire to nearly all you dream for him. On the other hand, your child, like yourself, may be fired with great ambition, backed by enormous effort. That child, like yourself, may also be over-conscientious. If so, he is facing danger.

Marks Of Strain

Many are the children, probably more girls than boys, who long before they reach their middle teens have written on their faces marks of strain and of anxiety. They lack the smiles and looks of joyousness which belong to youth. You and they have observed the apparent value in cultural attainments; and they must have, in addition to their heavy school program, extra lessons in music, or art, or fancy dancing. From many a parent I have heard it said, "My child just has no time that she can call her own."

No child can grow normally, or acquire nearly ideal mental and physical health, who does not have, even in adolescence, a few hours a day when he can, with clear conscience, lounge and loaf, and worry about nothing in the world; when he can enjoy outside fun or indoor leisure wholly as he likes.

Have Aptitude

But some children manifest marked aptitude in art or music, formal or informal group activities. Such activities are truly valuable and should be cultivated. If the school does not provide adequate opportunities for their development, we parents ought to seek ways of relieving the child of some of the regular school's demands. Some children who could greatly profit from considerable outside music training should be induced to be content with lower grades at school or should be helped to find ways to spread their school course over more than the standard number of years.

Let us discipline ourselves to put the child's health first. What shall it profit him if he should gain the whole world of learning and accomplishment and lose his own health? What can he give in exchange for his health?

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

LEGISLATION GONE MAD

Judge Ben Lindsey, authority on youth problems, and long a member of the juvenile court in Denver, Colorado, once stated:

"I know of no experience that was more helpful to me in my life work than the several years I sold newspapers on the street corners in Denver, and also carried a newspaper route."

That sentiment has been echoed a thousand times over by other jurists and by educators, parents, and business men, who know whereof they speak.

But there's no truth so well attested by experience and general opinion that it won't be challenged by zealotry. Proposals in state legislatures making it virtually impossible for newspapers to obtain carrier boys, to eliminate the street sale of papers by newsboys, as well as measures requiring boys to pay a fee to the state, provide a current sample of well-meaning zealotry gone astray.

Newsboys earning a small income in their spare time, learning the value of money, and acquiring good habits of thrift, are no menace to the community that their work should be meddled with, licensed, or prohibited.

But what can be said for misinformed "reform" legislation?

MAY TIME

The roses have started to bud. The lilies full growth have attained.

From where once was nothing but mud

The tulips now blossoms have gained.

And the trees—was last winter so brief?—

Have suddenly sprung into leaf.

There's a chorus of song in the air. The breezes are fragrant and sweet.

The mourning doves nest over there.

All the marvels of nature repeat. Now I wonder mid blossom and song

Why I fancied the winter so long?

The grass has turned green. It is May!

There are lilacs in blossom once more.

Bare-headed the children now play. Wide-open are windows and doors.

But another year older am I. How swiftly the seasons go by!

Manufacturers, Farmers In Partnership
Conferences Between Two Are Planned
Manufacturers Have Been Indifferent

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, May 22.—It was about time for American manufacturers and farmers to get together.

Of course, their interests basically are interdependent, but, for a long time perhaps always they've pulled largely at cross purposes. Now they're trying to hit on a partnership. If they succeed, it not only will be a corking good thing for agriculture and industry, but for everybody. In fact, Agriculture and Commerce Secretaries Wallace and Harry Hopkins are quoted to the effect that the movement is the most promising development that has manifested itself thus far in the direction of real and permanent national economic recovery.

Dean W. W. Burr of the Nebraska College of Agriculture appears to have evolved the idea initially. He proposed a series of farmer-manufacturer conferences, beginning May 25-26 in Lincoln (Neb.). Others are to follow here and there throughout the country, as the summer wags along.

Vice President Warren W. Shoemaker of Armour & Co. fell for the notion immediately.

Among urban industrialists the packing house folk naturally are in exceptionally close touch with Yankee livestock raisers. And concerns like the International Harvester company have a correspondingly intimate acquaintance with the soil tillers' problems. Fertilizer salesmen and food processors, as well as the textile group, likewise realize that they have everything in common with crop-growers and pastoralists.

But, generally speaking, American manufacturers seem not to have paid much attention to American agriculture. They haven't been hostile; they simply have been indifferent.

Educating The Manufacturers

All the same, Vice President Shoemaker of the Armour outfit, President J. C. Self of Matthews Cotton Mills, Vice President W. S. Elliott of the International Harvester and a few others evidently have managed to sell to the National Manufacturers' association the theory that manufacturing and agriculture are hand-in-hand.

The National Manufacturers' association usually is regarded as a pretty hard-boiled aggregation. Yet Vice President Shoemaker of the Armour, in one of the association's official releases, says: "We have nothing to teach the farmer. Our sincere hope is that out of a series of meetings, we can gather and transmit to industry the facts upon which a better understanding can be built."

In short, Vice President Shoemaker's thesis is that urban industry, rather than agriculture, needs educating.

The farmers unquestionably think they've had the worst of it. Probably they're right. It's easy to understand why. The manufacturers' organization is compact. There hasn't been a time when they couldn't assemble all their leaders in a single auditorium to agree on a joint program—and dictate it to Congress. The farmers have their organizations but they lack the urbanites' punch.

Labor also always has been urban. The A. F. of L., the C. I. O. and the railroad brotherhoods have talked business on Capitol Hill. They've had legislators scared.

The Tariff Film-Flam

The tariff film-flam had a lot to do with it.

By keeping foreign-made manufactured goods out of the American market American manufacturers have been able to keep their domestic prices up. They've sold their stuff abroad for less than they've sold it here. But the farmers have HAD to have foreign outputs, or sell at a loss. The manufacturers consistently have been willing to give the farmers oodles of tariff protection—which did the farmers no good.

The manufacturers wanted to keep out imports. The farmers needed to encourage exports. Two quite different things.

But finally it's reacted to the manufacturers' disadvantage.

As Vice President Shoemaker of Armour & Co., speaking for the National Manufacturers' association, remarks: "We're willing to learn."

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

Mr. Hopkins Joins Church

WASHINGTON, May 22.

WHEN the ballyhoo about Mr. Hopkins and his plans for putting business on its feet, which preceded and followed his appointment as Secretary of Commerce, is recalled, it does seem that this is a glib nation which cares little about either consistency of sincerity in its public servants.

APPARENTLY the stage has been reached where they can say one thing and do another with complete impunity. Certainly no man ever exemplified that better than the President himself, whose great spending policy inaugurated in 1933 and pursued ever since, is in direct conflict with the platform upon which he was elected and in complete contrast with his own speeches and statements. For a variety of reasons Mr. Roosevelt "got away" with this extraordinary contradiction and it is perhaps natural that his subordinates should feel that they too can afford to talk one way and perform in another. Nevertheless, it seems worth while to call attention to these departures if only for the sake of the record and in order to discourage their spending still farther down the line until no one's word in politics means anything.

THEREFORE, it is here recalled that Mr. Hopkins by press conference, propaganda and personal oration proclaimed himself the friend of business, determined to remove the handicaps under which it has labored and restore its health. There was vast publicity about his elaborate plans for doing these things. He was announced as in favor of the Morgenthau-Hanes revision proposals. He was understood to be against any further regulation. It was said that his "great influence" with the President would be used to turn him toward the Right, and avoid radical appointments and actions.

LITERALLY hundreds of inspired columns were printed to this general effect and one of Mr. Hopkins business stooges went as far as enthusiastically to assert that he would be the "greatest" Secretary of Commerce we ever had. That's the record—now look at the results. Mr. Hopkins has folded up and faded away. Perhaps a little publicity like this may bring him to the front again but the fact is that his department is not functioning vigorously at all. Within the last three weeks two resignations of business men, put in the department with the idea of aiding in the great Hopkins program have been taken. It is stated, they despaired of getting anything done. Another resignation for the same reason is said to be pending.

TO some extent this may be due to the fact that Mr. Hopkins has been away on sick leave. There is of course, due sympathy with him on that score, though it does not seem to prevent his regular attendance at the race tracks. In the main, however, it is credited to the fact that his Chief, influenced by the radical White House economics and his own personal dislikes, balked at the "business appeasement" program. Apparently that ended Mr. Hopkins' "plans." If he has evinced anything like friendliness to the business of the country since the bank, it has not been made public.

HOWEVER, he has not been idle in other directions. For one thing he has rejoined the church. The facts are presented in a dispatch from Grinnell, Iowa, printed in the Des Moines Register, on May 14. It reads as follows: "Secretary of Commerce Harry Hopkins is now a member of the Methodist Church here. He belonged years ago but recently asked to be reinstated. The Rev. Charles R. Rowe, pastor of the Methodist Church, said action had been taken on Hopkins' request to affiliate himself with the church of his boyhood and he is now a member of the local congregation. Secretary Hopkins informed the pastor that his request was in line with his desire to renew his interest in Iowa and his announced intention of making his home here. The closer linking of Mr. Hopkins with Grinnell and Iowa adds fuel to the rumor that residence in Iowa might serve as a boost to any ambitions he might have to succeed Mr. Roosevelt in the White House."

THUS it seems that Attorney General Frank Murphy is not the only eminent New Dealer whose diety is to be publicized. It is interesting to note that Mr. Hopkins does not ascribe his desire to rejoin the church to personal religious reasons, but frankly says that this is in line with his wish to "renew his interests in Iowa." The Grinnell correspondent mentions White House ambitions as possibly behind that move. In any event Mr. Hopkins is again a Methodist in good standing. If anyone brings up his race-track activities, of course, he can always deny them.

Americanism: Thinking we can keep isolated from the world; debasing our money and bartering goods for goods because competitors did it.

PLEASURE OR DESOLATION?

GIVEN fair weather, countless thousands will take to the road for Memorial Day motor trips to the seashore, the mountains or the country.

The week-end can be a pleasant period of relaxation or it can be desolate.

The difference is represented by the care motorists exercise upon the highway. From safety councils, automobile clubs and the motor vehicle commissioners of every state come warnings against reckless or careless driving.

Motorists are advised to keep to the right, to remember that railroad grade crossings are death traps, that speed is attained only at the sacrifice of safety, that a driver with regard for his life and the lives of others does not pass on curves or hills, does not cut in or too closely follow another car.

The careful driver is he who, before starting on a long trip, examines for possible defects tires, headlights, brakes and steering gear. He will also remember that 50 per cent of the victims of highway fatalities are pedestrians.

If every driver heeds the admonitions, there may be a chance to reduce the frightful death toll.

COLLEGE—FOR WHOM?

"It is not by any means assured that a college course is the best preliminary to any and all adult living in the American scene," says President Jessup, of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

This is not necessarily a slap at the colleges, save in so far as they may have become somewhat over-zealous in the development of large enrolments. It simply reflects frank recognition of the fact that the benefits of higher education are determined by the individual's needs and capabilities rather than by any guaranteed Open Sesame to the better life.

President Hutchins, of the University of Chicago, is another leading educator who has his doubts about the attempt to make college education available virtually to the entire adolescent population without regard to personal qualifications, aptitudes and objectives.

It would probably be a good thing not only for the colleges but for their applicants for admission if the advisability of undertaking advanced academic training were considered from the angles of fitness and aim rather than from those of tuition fees and social preferment.

EMBATTLED APPEASEMENT

Evidently official Washington's quest for business appeasement is going to result in a finish fight between New Dealers and conservative Democrats. That, in any case, is the conclusion being drawn from the cool reception accorded a conciliatory program at the White House several days ago.

Chairman Pat Harrison, of the Senate Finance Committee, sought a general easing of the tax burden being shouldered by business and industry, the general plan being in harmony with hints previously voiced by Administration spokesmen. However, President Roosevelt is understood to have indicated opposition, with the result that a bitter battle is in prospect.

Business men generally will hope that the problem can be solved without another series of bitter attacks upon American business. The upward trend of economic conditions would not be furthered by a new assault on the competitive structure and on the men who are charged with the responsibilities of industrial leadership.

What the more conservative Democrats are seeking is merely the enactment of a plan of tax revision that will foster rather than impede the normal operations of business and industry. And that aim, certainly, is in the interest of every wage earner and citizen throughout the country.

It is not too much to expect that the Federal Government shall be conciliatory and encouraging with respect to American industrial life. In the long run, such a policy would be of benefit to the national treasury through increasing the profits upon which any corporate fiscal system inevitably rests.

WILSON AND A THIRD TERM

More internal evidence that President Wilson flirted with the idea of running for a third term in 1920 is furnished in a biography of Senator Carter Glass by his secretary, Rixey Smith, in collaboration with Norman Beasley. About this aspiration for a third term, as the story is told, there was no desire for further aggrandizement. What Washington would not take, Wilson wanted solely for the purpose of assuring this country's adoption of the covenant of the League of Nations.

The third term ambition lasted up to the moment of the San Francisco convention in 1920. Dr. Cary Grayson, the President's physician, declared to Senator Glass that if Mr. Wilson permitted himself a third term, it would kill him. Mrs. Wilson's book, "My Memoirs," bears out this appraisal of the precarious state of the President's health, but signally fails to mention he contemplated a third term. To anybody conversant with the realities of the situation in 1920, the suggestion of the President's wanting himself to be renominated is one of the strangest aspects in the latter-day career of Woodrow Wilson. The President's prestige was in such eclipse that he could not have been renominated.

Nearly Two Million Cars And Trucks Are Licensed In State Of Pennsylvania

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 22.—The decline in motor vehicle registrations last year was smaller in Pennsylvania than the country at large, according to figures released today by the bureau of public roads.

In 1938, a total of 1,976,466 passenger cars and trucks were registered in the Keystone state. This was a drop of one-fifth of one per cent below 1937. In the country as a whole, such registrations decreased seven-tenths of one per cent. Registrations fell three-tenths of one per cent in Ohio and 5.2 per cent in West Virginia but increased nine-tenths of one per cent in New York.

Pennsylvania ranked third of the states in total number of 1938 registrations. New York came first with 2,584,123, followed by California with 2,510,867.

Pennsylvania car owners, however, paid more 1938 registration charges and miscellaneous fees than did owners of any state save New York. Such collections aggregated $34,513,000 in Pennsylvania, as against $47,124,000 in the Empire state.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1939 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

With women barging in everywhere—into bars, professions, offices, colleges, sports, Congress, the President's cabinet and even M. I. T.—the stock exchange has been the last hold-out, the stubbornly held citadel of organized, specialized and exclusive masculinity, the Alamo of this little beleaguered band of operators, pages, clerks, runners, stenographers, has been men.

But at last, here's the teletyping on the clacking ticker, just as ominous as that doomful flash on the wall of Belshazzar's palace. The Curb Exchange has installed a comely receptionist, Miss Ruth Virginia Maclin of Tennessee, and has arranged for the cordial reception of visitors in a roped-off enclosure. Her minions are specially trained page boys who serve as escorts for the visitors.

Miss Maclin is a sort of official hostess, making everybody feel at home, when they drop into watch the traders scalping eighths—even if this is a rather desultory business in these days of low sales volume. The women have thrust a tiny toes into the narrow crack of a big bronze door long closed against them. What next?

The incident is not unrelated to other recent developments in the stock exchanges. The fact is that these practitioners of a bloodless and statistical art are mellowing quite noticeably.

Within the last few weeks we have noted the start of the first large-scale good-will advertising by stock exchange firms, seeking to enlighten the public on what the exchange is, how it works and how it performs a necessary and useful service in our complicated economy.

Back in the days of "Socksless Jerry" Simpson of Kansas, every-body west of the Alleghenies was convinced that all stock-brokers had horns and put in a full working shift every day robbing the farmer and workingman. In the flush days of the twenties, the latter were eager to learn how the ogreish brokers worked the trick and began to "fade" Wall Street, making quite a few straight passes before they finally found snake-eyes. There was a measure of enlightenment in that, and as Wall Street goes human, it doesn't have to buck anything like the hostility of those pre-war days. Further-more, the Board of Governors has done a lot of renovating on its own account, entirely apart from the prodding of Messrs. Pujo, Pecora, Douglas, et al, and nobody turns in a riot call when a stock exchange house starts explaining why and how it helps to keep the wheels of industry turning and pay checks moving.

Edwin Markham has a poem in which it is related that somebody or other was dealing misery to his crowd. This outsider had "drawn a circle" which excluded the poet. The poem concludes:

"But Love and I had wit to win;
We drew a circle and took him in."
As Jim Watson of Indiana once said:

"If you can't beat 'em, you join 'em."

And so, with the harried brokers, regardless of the fact that their partner may be Money, rather than Love. Their wider inclusiveness is revealed in many ways. Just a little while ago you had to go through all sorts of abracadabra—everything short of vaccination and an allergy test—to get into the stock exchange, with a pass from a member and his personal escort to the balcony. That's all done away with now. John W. Featherstone, the Whatecher, Ia. hardware dealers, can step up to the window and be passed in without any fuss whatsoever, and only the most casual identification. The exchange invites all and sundry to note that it has nothing up its sleeve.

Our World's Fair makes a grand occasion for declaring everybody in. Many brokers display signs inviting Fair visitors to come around, ask questions and see all the sights. It would appear that World's Fairs are useful in mixing up the citizenry in this way. Probably few of the bitter haters of Wall Street, backed in Bryan's day, never saw either Wall Street or a broker. And, again, it won't do Wall Street any harm to talk to just run-of-the-mill people from the sticks. The process of enlightenment doubtless works both ways.

The note on Miss Maclin of Tennessee acting as hostess at the Curb Exchange is a follow-up on a story we had the other day about charming Southern girls being a smash-hit in public contact jobs here. What could be more appropriate than the warmly inclusive Southern "you all" in opening our marts of trade to all comers? And we need more "you all" and "we all" in our national make-up, and less of the "me and mine."

Programs Announced At Tifereth Israel And Temple Israel

The Jewish Pentecost, or Shevuos, the Festival of Weeks which falls on the sixth day of the Jewish month of Sivan will be celebrated on the 24th and 25th of May this year. It will be observed by orthodox and conservative Jews for two days; by the reform wing for one day.

Originally called the Festival of Weeks because the holiday marked the end of the grain harvest, the holiday also came to be identified with and celebrated as the anniversary of the giving of the law to the Jewish people at Mt. Sinai.

At the beginning of the 19th century, reform Jews gave the holiday a new significance by inaugurating the ceremony of confirmation. The practice of confirming Jewish youth at this season has spread to all branches in Judaism.

The Book of Ruth, which tells the story of Ruth's entry into the fold of Judaism, is read in the synagogue on this festival.

Special services are to be held at Tifereth Israel Synagogue, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, May 23 and 24, at 7:15 p.m. The morning services are scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday, May 24 and 25, at 8 a.m. Rabbi M. J. Simkes will preach at the Thursday Memorial service, 9:30 a.m., on the subject "The Torah—Our Inheritance."

Shevuos services at Temple Israel are scheduled for Tuesday evening, May 23 at 7:30 p.m. A special feature will be the recognition of those religious school pupils who have won distinction during the school year. Presentation of certificates and prizes will be made by A. H. Gonick, chairman of the religious school committee.

Local Youth In Ceremony While Crossing Equator

Carmine DeLorenzo Initiated Into Ancient Order Of The Deep

Upon crossing the Equator and entering the mythical Domain of Neptune Rex, aboard the U. S. S. Tuscaloosa of the United States Navy, Carmine DeLorenzo, of 602 Pearson street, this city, was initiated into the Solemn Mysteries of the Ancient Order of the Deep.

When in the United States Navy, it is a custom to conduct a special ceremony for all sailors who cross the Equator for the first time. Each ship has an elaborate program, and the veteran sailors, garbed as old men of the sea, take the new navy men into their confidence.

DeLorenzo, son of John DeLorenzo, of the same address, sent back to the local navy recruiting officer, J. C. Murphy, a special envelope, postmarked at the Equator.

Reading on the cover follows: Be It Known—By all ye sailors, marines, land lubbers, and others who may be honored by his presence that, D. C. DeLorenzo, having been found worthy to be numbered as one of our trusty shellbacks has been gathered to our fold, and fully initiated into the Solemn Mysteries of the Ancient Order of the Deep. It is signed for Neptune Rex, ruler of the raging main, by Davey Jones, his majesty's scribe.

EVEN CHILD WITH PROPER DIET MAY DEVELOP DE- FICIENCY DISEASE

From time to time we have discussed diseases which arise because a child doesn't get a proper diet. But occasionally we encounter a case in which a child whose diet is proper still develops a deficiency disease.

Rickets, a disease associated with the use of calcium by the body, is typical of this complaint.

We all know that milk is an excellent source of calcium; in fact, I think I can go so far as to say that it is the best.

One would think that a child who gets plenty of milk would never develop rickets, which is due to a lack of calcium. But we have found that this is sometimes the case. Calcium by itself does no good; there must be another substance along with it so that the child's body can use it correctly. Otherwise the calcium is excreted from the body as fast as it is taken in. This other substance which must work with calcium is Vitamin D.

Just let us look at the baby's menu and see how much Vitamin D he gets in his regular diet. If he is breastfed, he gets a small amount of the vitamin from his mother; if he is fed on the bottle, he gets practically none of that vitamin in the cow's milk. It has been found there is plenty of the vitamin in the yolk of egg, but a very young baby can't take egg yolk. Even if he could, he couldn't take a dozen eggs a day that would be necessary to provide him with a sufficiency.

For the young baby there are two great sources of Vitamin D—cod-liver oil and sunlight. When the baby is born, he has inherited from his mother a supply of calcium sufficient to last about a month. At the end of that period he has used up all of this store, and his body must find it somewhere else. Milk isn't enough, we know now, because his system can't absorb all the calcium in the milk without the necessary Vitamin D. At such a tender age there are very few things you can add to his diet, but fortunately cod-liver oil is one of the things that most babies can take quite early in life without any trouble.

When the Quintuplets were born, two months prematurely, we were faced with the problem of giving them this Vitamin D, for they didn't even have the month's store of calcium that fulltime babies are equipped with. So we gave them cod-liver oil in concentrated form. This goes by the name of viosterol, and it is easily given to the baby and it is easily digested. You just put one, two or three drops in the baby's milk, as your doctor will prescribe.

Of course if the baby is born in the spring, or early summer when it is warm and the sun is bright, you are fortunate. For then he can get a supply of this vitamin right from the sun itself. It has been found that the sunshine, from early May until the middle of September, in temperate climates, possesses enough power and sufficient ultraviolet rays to protect the baby from developing rickets.

Mercer Alumni Plans Banquet

MERCER, May 22.—Plans for the 50th annual banquet of the Mercer High School Alumni association were completed at a meeting held in the office of D. W. Patterson. It will be held on Friday evening, June 2, following the graduation exercises, in the American Legion Home. The dinner will be served by the American Legion Auxiliary.

This year's reunion is expected to be the largest ever held. The graduating class, the honored guests, with 55 members, is the largest class in the history of Mercer high school. Two classes will hold reunions. The 25-year class of 1914 will have every living member present and, together with their wives and husbands, will form a group of 40 or more. The class of 1929, after 10 years, expects to have a large representation present. Local members of the class of 1934 are requested to notify officers of the association of their plans.

The association elected Dr. T. W. King president for the coming year; D. W. Patterson, vice president, and Edward H. Dillon, secretary-treasurer.

W. T. McCoy will act as toastmaster at the banquet. Dr. M. G. Feager will speak and welcome the new class. The response will be made by John Stranahan.

ARRID

On Court House Hill

Several actions were laid in the office of the prothonotary and clerk of courts on Saturday. The Elwood City Federal Savings and Loan Association files an action in ejectment against Gustav and Agnes Schuller.

The Dime Savings and Loan Association of Beaver Falls now First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Beaver Falls files an action against Raymond E. and Grace E. Mattox for satisfaction of a mortgage, the amount due being shown as $1993.77 and interest from April 1, 1939.

On Saturday Judge Thomas W. Dickey handed down an opinion upholding the judgment of Alderman Samuel Bassano in the case of reckless driving against John Figley. The man was arrested upon complaint of George Marshall and while Alderman Bassano was preparing the required notice Figley came into the office and asked for the complaint and for a hearing. He agreed to accept such notice of the charge. He was found guilty and fined $10 and $2.50 costs. He appealed the conviction on the grounds that he had not been properly notified by mail. Judge Dickey held that his personal appearance and acceptance of the charge was good.

On the property adjoining the court house, formerly the Boyle property, there is one of the finest specimens of elm that can be found in the county. It has about seven limbs running from the trunk and each of them has a tremendous spread. The tree shades an area about 100 feet long and sixty feet wide.

Some of the limbs have grown out so far they now sag almost to the ground and are supported with props.

German-Italian Military Alliance Is Formally Signed

Agreement To Last Ten Years

Nations Obligated To Aid Each Other In Case War Develops

SIGNING OCCURS AT BERLIN TODAY

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, May 22.—Calling for action-trigger and unquestioning aid in mutual support in the event either nation is involved in war, a far-reaching German-Italian military alliance was signed today.

Signatures to the document, the answer of the Rome-Berlin axis to the Anglo-French system of alliances, were affixed by Count Galeazzo Ciano and Joachim von Ribbentrop, the Italian and German foreign ministers.

Adding armed collaboration to the political unity hitherto binding the axis, the alliance is brief and uncompromising. It goes into effect at once for a period of ten years.

According to the best available information, the compact's chief strength lies in the fact that neither axis partner is to question motives or causes in case of war, but go at once to the other's assistance.

Neither partner may remain neutral when the other becomes involved in a conflict, regardless of the cause or circumstances, it was understood the pact specifies.

No Separate Peace
Nor can Italy or Germany conclude a separate peace, the agreement is said to stipulate.

The seven clauses of the agreement, reliable sources said, comprehensively cover all phases of defense, including general staff consultations on specific problems.

Drafted at Milan, the pact is said to have been fortified greatly at German insistence following the conclusion of the Turkish-British alliance.

Count Ciano was given an enthusiastic welcome on his arrival in Berlin, and he had a long talk with Chancellor Hitler.

Findley Thomas Hanna Sets Record Here For Youngest Air Passenger

Findley Thomas Hanna, namesake of Findley Wilson, well known local pilot, took his first airplane ride Sunday afternoon at the New Castle Airport, at the tender age of one year and two weeks.

With Wilson at the controls, little Findley appeared to enjoy the ride over the city. Upon first entering the airplane he was a bit frightened, but with his dad, Red Hanna to take care of him, he soon became interested in the fleeting landscape and the movement of the control stick.

Findley Thomas Hanna is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Hanna of the Slippery Rock road. His father is a plane pilot and has taken all of his instruction from Wilson.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, May 22.—Gov. Arthur H. James is being pressed to appoint a business man rather than a professional man to succeed Dr. Lester K. Ade, superintendent of public instruction, who retires May 29 at the end of his four year term in office. . . . the post pays $12,000.

Among those understood being considered for the post are Ralph E. Weeks, head of the International Correspondence school of Scranton; Lackawanna county school superintendent Thomas Francis, also of Scranton; and Dr. Leroy A. King, Narberth, a professor at the University of Pennsylvania.

A report current in capital circles but otherwise unconfirmable is that job distribution may be held up until after the fall primary. . . . present expectations have been that the patronage "jam" would be broken after the legislature adjourned. . . . In two counties, Lancaster and Dauphin, Pinchot leaders of 1938 have not yet made their peace with the James leaders of the last primary.

Presidential intervention in Pennsylvania Democratic affairs is expected before long in an effort to harmonize the party in the Keystone state. . . . Recently John B. Kelly, Philadelphia Democratic leader, was closeted with President Roosevelt but he remained uncommunicative after the interview. . . . Kelly is being talked of as a Democratic candidate for U. S. senator to succeed incumbent Joseph P. Guffey. . . . Thomas A. Logue, ex-secretary of internal affairs, is another possible candidate.

Over on the other side of the country, Pennsylvania was winning honors of another sort at the San Francisco fair. . . . A jumping frog named "Harrisburg" hopped 11 feet to take first place in a frog-jumping contest on Treasure Island. . . . "Harrisburg" was entered for governor James, unbeknownst to himself.

If the legislature adjourns sine die on May 26 as scheduled, it will be to the great surprise of Pennsylvania's senators. . . . Whatever house members may think, their colleagues in the upper chamber are exceedingly doubtful of their ability to clear up all the controversial legislation still unacted upon in the short time available.

The opinion is pretty well established in Capitol Hill circles that barring a war-time boom or a sensational peacetime business revival which will slash the state's relief rolls the legislature will be in session again before the end of its two-year term of life. . . . Many persons are convinced a special session will be called this year, after the election; if not then, then probably in the spring. . . . It is admitted, even by the governor, that the $128,000,000 set aside for relief will be greatly insufficient for the state's two-year needs if the cost of relief approximates during the next biennium the $209,000,000 spent during the past two years.

It was 2:15 a. m. and the senate was still in session, its members siberly tired and a bit disgruntled at the late hour. . . . The hub-bub and the noise grew louder. . . . Presiding officer Samuel S. Lewis, the lieutenant-governor, banged his gavel. "Order please," he shouted, "so the senate can know what it's doing."

A sub-rosa senatorial remark overheard in the senate as Sen. G. Mason Owlett, Republican floor leader, announced that the senate would meet next day at 12 noon: "I don't see why they have to meet so early in the morning."

Governor James, fencing with reporters at his daily press conferences, has his own peculiar way of indicating he has nothing further to say on the subject under discussion. . . . "Further than that," the ex-judge jokingly remarks, "the deponent sayeth not."

Aged Resident Greeted By Many On His Birthday
William D. Williams, of 818 Etna street, was still enthused today, recalling the reception accorded him on Saturday by his host of friends, it being the occasion of his eighty-fourth birthday anniversary.

Mr. Williams was born in Danville, when a young man he worked in one of the rail mill plants, in Mid-dlesex, as a roller and puddler. He is now the oldest puddler in Lawrence county. He came to this city over fifty years ago, and was employed in the guide mills of the old Atlantic and Rice plants. Harry Blews, of Ryan avenue, and Mr. Williams worked together in the old mills for a number of years. Later he worked in the Johnson Mill and the Greer Mill, later called the New Castle Tin plant. When the Sheng-ango tinplant was ready for operation in 1898, Mr. Williams secured employment in the hot mills, and remained until 1909.

Since that time he held the position of poor director of this city, from 1917 to 1927, when he retired from public life.

Mr. Williams resides with his son, William D. Williams, Jr. His daughter, Mrs. Catherine Schielein, of Rochester, was here for the occasion. His other children are Thomas J. of Etna street, John L. of Smith-field street, Russell, Paul and Harold of Meadville. Mr. Williams is in good health.

Pittsburgh Men Injured In Crash
Car Leaves Road Between Mercer And New Wilmington Late Sunday Afternoon

Two Pittsburgh brothers, Thomas Pabis, aged 56, of Sarrock street; and Joseph Pabis, aged 60, of Emmer street, that city, are in the Jameson Memorial hospital, suffering from injuries received shortly after 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon, when an automobile driven by Joseph Pabis, skidded from the highway and went into a ditch, just north of New Wilmington on the road to Mercer.

Joseph Pabis, suffered a broken right knee cap, while Thomas Pabis had severe lacerations of the head. The latter also suffered considerably from loss of blood.

It was stated at the hospital this morning that both are in fair condition.

Two Are Facing Firearms Charge
Chief R. A. Criswell of the city police department today said he proposed to swear to informations charging violations of the national firearms act against Robert Payne, 320 West Falls street and Albert Hall, rear 902 Moravia street. Both are colored.

Payne allegedly was ejected from the Elmer & Walsh service station, West Grant street, by Jack Davis, got a revolver and returned. Davis, and a truck driver, the name of whom was not given, disarmed Payne.

Officers Welsh, Reese and Boyles apprehended Payne hiding in the New Castle Lumber yard at 5 a. m. Sunday, one hour after the alleged offense.

Detective Moore and Patrolman Wallace captured Albert Hall after he reportedly threatened a young woman at 12:45 p. m. Sunday.

Male Chorus Dinner Party

Members, Wives And Friends Gather At Orr's Hall Saturday Night

On Saturday evening, the New Castle Male Chorus, held their annual dinner party, at Orr's Hall, on Grove street. The members' wives and families were guests of the chorus. About one hundred persons partook of a splendidly prepared dinner.

After dinner, teams of ladies and gentlemen were selected, who took part in a session of quiz, led by Herman Hess, president of the Chorus, followed by some pep singing by the audience of a number of popular songs. A couple of groups of ladies and gentlemen were put through a series of "tongue twisters" read to them by William Richards, which afforded much merriment. There was also some impromptu solos, and singing by small groups, and a few extemporaneous talks.

The entertainment feature of the evening, was a minstrel show given by a number of the chorus members, under the direction of Richard Hill, and Clarence Reese, with Herman Hess, interlocutor. The minstrel troupe were: W. Evans, Jack Griffith, Richard Hill, J. Hoffmeister, J. Strecher, C. Hennon, I. Hoffmeister, with Clarence Reese, Roger Francis, William Gregor, Walter Morrison, Earl Eckles, and John Morrison, as end men. The opening chorus was, "Hello Prosperity." The intercomedy work of Mr. Hess, and the end men was well done. There were a number of solos well rendered, and ably assisted by the remainder of the circle.

"In the Garden of Tomorrow," solo by Richard Hill; "Over the Billy Sea to You," by John Wagner; "Darktown Strutters Ball," Walter Morrison; "That Tumbledown Shack in Ashland," Richard Hill; "Asleep in the Deep," C. Hennon; "Hula Lou," Roger Francis; "That Lonesome Road," Earl Eckles; "Somebody Stole My Gal," Clarence Reese, followed by the grand finale by the entire company. The music was accompanied by Miss Ann Thomas, accompanist of the Male Chorus.

At the conclusion of the minstrel program, Mrs. Gladys Thomas, director, called the entire Male Chorus together, when they sang two selections, "Hymn to the Night," by Rhys Ford, and "Bells of St. Mary's" by Adams, which were well received. Miss Ann Thomas, accompanied. The president extended a vote of thanks on behalf of the chorus to the dinner, and entertainment committees, for their splendid work, and to all who had helped to make the occasion such a splendid success. To conclude the enjoyable evening, all those assembled joined hands, and sang "Blessed be the Tie that Binds."

The dinner committee was Earl Eckles, and John Wagner, and among those who ably assisted were: Mr. and Mrs. William Gregor, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Harcar, Mr. Eckles, and Mrs. Wagner.

Graham Opposes
Reciprocal Trade
Agreement Plan

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 22.—Representative Louis Graham of Beaver was one of the House Republicans who unsuccessfully sought last week to prevent appropriation of funds for continuation of the reciprocal trade agreement program.

The clash came in the House of Representatives when Democrats offered to the State Department appropriation bill an amendment supplying $225,000 for trade agreement work. Twice the amendment was approved, final enactment coming by a 165 to 139 ballot.

Representative Graham on both votes opposed the amendment.

Jones Issues "Don'ts" To Local Motorists

Traffic having increased, Commissioner Thomas Jones today deemed it feasible to issue a few "Don'ts" to motorists, which if obeyed, will help to minimize accidents here. They follow:

Don't fail to stop at all stop signs. Don't pass on hills or blind curves—your might just as well drive blindfolded.

Don't fail to signal all turns—the fellow behind is entitled to this courtesy.

Don't challenge the right-of-way—if in doubt, take no chances. Don't cut corners—that's the other fellow's territory and he might claim it.

Don't cut in sharply after passing—the driver you pass hates the ditch as much as you do.

Don't weave all over the highway—your half of the road is on the right.

Don't come to sudden stops without signaling—rear end crashes are costly.

Don't lag in traffic—you have no right to delay those behind.

Don't take a chance with faulty brakes or tires—it's a saving you'll regret.

Don't be reckless at any time—you endanger not only your own life, but the other fellow's as well.

Don't drive with blinding lights—the driver approaching hates it as much as you do.

Don't race for an intersection then stop suddenly—brakes have been known to fail.

Don't drink if you drink. Don't drink if you drive.

Keep a safe clear stopping distance ahead of you. Something unexpected might happen to the vehicle ahead.

Drive sanely—signal plainly. Save a life—perhaps your own. Always keep your plates clean.

Harlan Situation Is Little Changed

About 30 Per Cent Of County Miners Ready To Return Under Contract

(International News Service) HARLAN, Ky., May 22.—An estimated 4,000 men, roughly 30 per cent of Harlan county's soft coal miners, were ready to go back to work today under "union shop" contracts signed by Independent operators with John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers of America.

Ten thousand other miners remained on strike, however, as the Harlan Coal Operators' Association continued its adamant stand against the "union shop" demanded by the union. The association was the only one in Kentucky which had refused to yield to contracts along lines laid down by union chief Lewis.

Announcement that Harlan's third independent mine to reach terms with the union within the week had signed a contract was made by William Turnblazer, Harlan district president of the UMW. He said the Clover Split Company, whose mine near Harlan employs about 300 men, signed with the union late yesterday and would resume operations tomorrow morning.

A federal labor department conciliator, John L. Connor, was to bring the associated owners together with UMW representatives in an effort to settle the deadlock, but although Connor said he was hopeful a settlement could be made, there was no such confidence in the camp of Brig. Ellerbe Carter, commander of 1,300 National Guardsmen protecting mines opened with union contracts.

The next regular meeting will be on June 4, at the hall and at which time the new officers will be installed.

Aboard the Quintuplet Special, May 22.—After a sound, night-long sleep despite bubbling excitement over their forthcoming meeting with King George and Queen Elizabeth, the five most famous children in the world sped into Toronto today to make their well-rehearsed curtain call.

It was the quintuplets' first train trip. It was also their first departure from their private hospital home in bleak Calderdale.

A towering locomotive, adorned with the red and gold nameplate, "The Quintland," drew the seven-car special stream-lined train from Calderdale to Toronto.

The quints as they stepped aboard were attired in identical pale blue coats and bonnets with frocks of the same shade peeping from beneath. And immediately upon departure, the five little sisters were tucked into bed along with some of their favorite toys and dolls.

Their rolling home was the private car of the general manager of the railroad, its three bedrooms transformed into luxurious nurseries, with little cots and other necessary gadgets.

Because the famous girls do not like new or starched sheets, their own mattresses and bed clothing were used in the car.

Yanks Hang Up Eleventh Straight Victory At Expense Of Cleveland Indians

BOSTON RED SOX ARE HANGING ON

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, May 22.—New York baseball devotees, and some from other points besides, virtually wore themselves out during the past winter failing to agree as to whether last season's Yankees or the 1927 aggregation made up the greatest baseball team in history. As a matter of fact the debate was premature and they should have waited until the conclusion of the current campaign to start that argument, for it seems likely that the 1939 club will be established next fall as the ne plus ultra of the par excellents. The season has a long way to go, but right now they are slightly better than ten terrific.

Yanks Take Victory
When they beat the Indians yesterday by 12 to 6 they scored their 11th straight victory further to perpetuate their longest unbroken skin during Manager Joe McCarthy's tenure dating back to 1931.

At this stage of the proceedings the worst thing you can say about the Yanks is that they may get a race from the Boston Red Sox, who are persistently clinging to second place. The Yanks and Red Sox would have to crack wide open for any of the rest to finish in front. All this may look a little silly considering it isn't even June yet, but so do most of the American League clubs. The Red Sox stayed in the parade yesterday by beating the Detroit Tigers, 8 to 3. The Chicago White Sox beat Washington, 3 to 2 in 10 innings, but remained seven games out of the lead. Philadelphia beat St. Louis, 12 to 4.

Dizzy Dean Stars
Highlight of the National League was Dizzy Dean's three hit victory for the Chicago Cubs against the Boston Bees, the score being 4 to 0 and Dean being near perfect. He didn't walk a single batter. The St. Louis Cardinals and Cincinnati Reds remained in a deadlock for first place, the former beating the Philadelphia Phillies, 5 to 2, while the Reds were taking the Brooklyn Dodgers, 7 to 2. Carl Hubbell lasted only three innings for the New York Giants and the Pittsburgh Pirates won by 4 to 1.

ORIOLES WIN, 15-11
East Side Orioles defeated the fast Reynolds A. C. aggregation, 15-11. Left struck out 13 batsmen.

Baccalaureate Service For Seniors On Sunday

ELLWOOD CITY, May 22.—There are two voices, the voice of wisdom and the voice of folly, and those who listen to wisdom find peace and happiness while those who listen to folly find that all the misery in the world comes from disobedience. Rev. Joseph E. Pringle, pastor of the Bell Memorial Presbyterian church, told the largest senior baccalaureate service.

While each voice has a set of words that calls "follow me," heeding the voice of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge. Contrasting the lives of Jacob and Absalom, the speaker whose brief address was most worthwhile, said those that follow God may leave a well, like Jacob, that will strengthen others, while those that follow Satan will leave like Absalom, only an empty, meaningless pillar. In Paris, there are two great monuments, nearby, one for Napoleon, the other for Pasteur. Napoleon caused only misery and unhappiness while Pasteur accomplished something worthwhile, the speaker illustrated, in pointing out the way of life that is everyone's power to select.

The greatest job is not to make a living; because fortune and social position are no proof of a successful life; but the greatest job is loving a life for God. In closing the speaker, addressing the class, said "You will not find happiness through the voice of folly, in the pleasures of the world, in the love of money, position and fame, or in military glory, but live a life for God and the world will be your debtor."

Razing Of Barn Recalls Story Of Fast Race Horses

An old barn was torn down during past week by Thomas Arthril and Thomas, Jr., located in the rear of the home of George Owens on East Main street.

The barn was built in 1896 by J. J. Liebenfelder of North Walnut street, at the rear of his lot, which extended along the rear of East Main street, and recently a portion was sold to Mr. Owens.

J. C. Liebenfelder of Walmo, a son states that the late E. W. Crawford, former postmaster, a brother-in-law, and he, kept some fine fast driving horses in this barn. One of them was "Sam Kearns", about 30 years ago, a fine bay horse with a record of 2:13½, considered very good for that period. This horse was first owned by Clyde Shoaf, who drove him in his races, and believed it to be a great horse. Jim Johnson owned this horse for one year, and it was driven by his son Walter, "Electric Bell, Jr.", a Kentucky bred trotter, "Grey Vincent" by St. Vincent, "Pete Davis", formerly owned by the late William Patterson, local banker, and other good horses had this old barn for their home. Doubtless many of us have seen these horses showing their prowess on the local race track.

Greta Garbo's Salary May Take Big Drop

By MILTON HARKER (International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, May 22.—Greta Garbo within the next few days starts on a picture which may have a far-reaching effect on her future salary.

On a per-picture basis, Garbo is the highest paid performer on the screen. She receives $250,000 for each picture, a rate duplicated only by Marlene Dietrich at the peak of her career. By way of comparison, Carole Lombard, Claudette Colbert and Jean Arthur, who also work on a single picture basis, receive $150,000 each.

Others, like Myrna Loy, Ginger Rogers and Joan Crawford, may receive larger incomes annually but they work in several pictures a year to get it.

Garbo has maintained her salary level because of her tremendous draw in foreign countries, despite the fact that her box office appeal in the American market has dropped from fifth place in 1932 to below 60th place last year.

However, since Garbo's last picture, "Conquest," was released two years ago, Hollywood's film market abroad has been severely hit by bans in Germany and Italy and other dictator controlled areas and by quota restrictions and native film production in some countries.

This will mean, the experts point out here, that Garbo's new picture, "Ninotchka," will have to build up a tremendous appeal for American audiences, with corresponding box office intake, or M-G-M will no longer be able to pay the great Swedish actress the salary it is paying her now.

Of course, Garbo may solve the whole situation by retiring, something she has been discussing with her friends for the past two years. She has but one more picture to do after "Ninotchka," "Madam Curie," "Conquest" won Garbo her first motion picture academy award nomination, but she lost out in the final vote despite the feeling of many critics she was well entitled to the year's highest award.

Her newest picture may get underway this week. It will be in production by next week at the very latest, according to the best available information.

Pity a dozen actors and as many actresses, portraying tourists, working in an elaborate set for "Lady of the Tropics."

They are supposed to show delight at watching a temple dance, but actually they are only looking out on a stage cluttered up with lights and props.

Director Jack Conway shoots the scene several times before he is completely satisfied, telling the players between each take:

"Remember you are watching a very exotic native dance, something to warm your blood."

Actually the dance supposed to enthrall these two dozen spectators was filmed three years ago in Saigon, Indo-China.

So the players, you see, have to do some fancy stretching of their imaginations.

Watch Traffic Regulations In New York City

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, May 22.—Go easy on the horn and watch out for traffic regulations that differ from those of other states when you visit the World's Fair in New York.

Warns the Keystone Automobile club.

"Chronic horn blowers are cautioned to light on their noise-makers," says a club bulletin, "because a city ordinance forbids the use of horns 'except to warn an animal or person of danger.'"

Of major importance in New York," continues the release, "is the requirement for stopping at any intersection the motorist is approaching when a traffic light in the 'synchronized' system turns red, even though the light may be a square or two squares distant.

"The synchronized system," explained the club, "embraces a number of traffic lights operated alternately on red and green, and controlling traffic at all intersections in the area between the first and last light, although the signals are not erected at every intersection."

It must be true that exercise keeps you healthy. You never saw a weak and run-down tongue.

Girl From Butler Wins C. D. Of A. Essay Contest

Thirteen-year-old Frances Haley, a mite of a miss from the eighth grade of St. Paul's Parochial School in Butler, was the center of admiration during the Junior Day exercises yesterday which opened the fourteenth state biennial convention of the Catholic Daughters of America, for it was she who won the coveted first place in the state-wide essay contest.

Competing with Catholic girls and boys from 13 to 18 years old throughout the state of Pennsylvania, little Miss Haley turned in the best thesis on "The Aims and Objects of the Catholic Daughters of America as Applied to Catholic Action." She will compete in the national essay contest as the Pennsylvania representative.

She Was "Real Surprised"

Although she had just been informed of her success a few hours before, Frances accepted the honors heaped upon her Sunday afternoon with a great deal of modesty and appeared to be the calmest visitor at the convention.

Frances is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Haley, Jr., of 221 North Cliff street, Butler. Her father is a foreman for the Armco, and she has three younger brothers.

Other Winners

Other winners in the contest are: Miss Monica Doherty, Honesdale Catholic High, Honesdale, and John Smith, SS Cosmas and Damian High School, Punxsutawney. The first prize was $5, the second, $3, and the third, $2.

The following received honorable mention and an award of $1 each: Miss Anna Gallagher, Mt. Carmel Catholic High School, Mt. Carmel; Mary Rita Palowitch, Central Catholic High School, Johnstown; Jean Abt, St. James High School, West End, Pittsburgh; Miss Elizabeth Sewentelle, Lock Haven Catholic School, Lock Haven; Miss Carmella Nola, Lincoln High School, Midland; and Francis Petro, 542 North Franklin street, Wilkes-Barre.

Wednesday Evening

The annual Camp East Brook reunion supper will occur Wednesday, May 24, from 5 to 7:30 p. m. in the gym and green room of the Y. W. C. A. Miss Frances Thompson, program director of the Pittsburgh Y. A., for the past two years and former handicraft counselor, will be director for Camp East Brook this year and will be present at the camp reunion supper to meet all old campers and those who are planning to go this summer.

The winning camp play written by Ruth Ames will be presented by the George Washington Girl Reserve cast with Lois Leach, Eleanor Chapman and Frances Cook in the principal roles. A toy orchestra composed of members of the Girl Reserve Inter-Club Council will be directed by Miss Mettelle Round, George Washington Girl Reserve adviser.

The camp committee composed of Mrs. Glenn Berry, chairman; Mrs. W. J. Caldwell, Mrs. James Green, Mrs. John Elliott, Mrs. Robert Eckles, Mrs. A. B. Foster, Mrs. E. P. DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Half the deaths from burns occur before the sixth year.

Three out of 5 such deaths are of women and girls.

Children's burns are largely due to carelessness.

Parents, nurses and servants are responsible.

A child's curiosity adds to the danger from burns.

Up to the 35th year more women than men are burned.

After 35, when they are most active, more men suffer.

In later life the rate is again higher in women.

Burns in women usually result from household duties.

Scalds are more serious than other types of burns.

The younger the patient, the more serious the burn.

Carelessness in the home causes many deaths from burns.

Carlsbad Caverns National park area has gradually been enlarged from 700 acres to 49,448.41 acres. The latest addition, made by President Roosevelt, Feb. 3, 1939, includes several important caverns.
